

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

COUNCIL CHAMBER.

SCULPTURE.

- 1 Statue of KING GEORGE III., by Sir F. L. Chantrey, R.A.

Erected by the Corporation at an expense of 3089*l.* 9*s.*
On the pedestal is the following Inscription, written by Samuel Birch, Esq., Alderman of the Ward of Candlewick, who at that time filled the civic chair :

GEORGE THE THIRD,
Born and bred a Briton :

Endeared to a Brave, Free, and Loyal People
by his Public Virtues, by his pre-eminent example of private worth in all the relations of domestic life, by his uniform course of unaffected piety,
and entire submission to the Will of Heaven.
The Wisdom and Firmness of his Character and Councils enabled him so to apply the resources of his empire, so to direct the native energies of his subjects, that he maintained the Dignity of his Crown, preserved inviolate the Constitution in Church and State, and secured the Commerce and Prosperity of his Dominions, during a long period of unexampled difficulty :
in which the deadly contagion of French principles, and the domineering aggressions of French Power, had nearly dissolved the frame and destroyed the independence of every other Government and Nation in Europe.
The Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London have erected this Statue, in Testimony of their undeviating Loyalty and grateful Attachment to the Best of Kings, in the Fifty-fifth year of his Reign.
BIRCH, Mayor.

29 *LORD HEATHFIELD. (After Sir Joshua Reynolds.)

(This is not the original, which was going fast to decay in the exposed situation of the Council Chamber; it was therefore copied, and so finely, that it is not much inferior to the original, which was considered as one of Sir Joshua Reynolds's best pictures.—J. B. Nichols's Brief Account of Guildhall.)

The youngest son of Sir Gilbert Elliott, bart., born 1718. After passing through the University at Leyden, he was sent to the celebrated Ecole Royale du Génie Militaire, conducted by Vauban, at La Fère in Picardy. He entered the 23d regiment of Foot, 1735; made Commander-in-chief of the Forces in Ireland, 1775; removed to Gibraltar, which he successfully defended against the whole power of Spain for three years; raised to the peerage, 14th June, 1787; died 9th July, 1790.

30 *Vice-Admiral LORD NELSON.

Painted by Sir William Beechey, R.A.

The son of Edmund Nelson, rector of Burnham Thorpe in Norfolk. Born 29th September, 1758; made his first voyage to the North Sea, 4th June, 1773; received his Lieutenancy, 9th April, 1777; promoted to Post-captain, 11th June, 1789; Commodore, 11th August, 1796; Rear-admiral, April 1797; Knight of the Bath, 1st June, 1797. Presented by the Corporation of London with the Freedom of the City, in a gold box, 28th November, 1797; and with a sword of honour, on Lord Mayor's day, 10th November, 1800. Nelson presented to the Corporation the Sword of Mons. Blanquet, the commanding French Admiral, who survived the battle of the Nile, 3d October, 1798; created Baron Nelson of the Nile, 6th October, 1798; Vice-admiral of the Blue, 1st January, 1801; Viscount Nelson, May 1801; killed at the battle of Trafalgar, 21st October, 1805; publicly buried at St. Paul's cathedral, 9th January, 1806.

31 GEORGE PEABODY. Painted by H. W. Pickersgill.

Presented by Philip Cazenove, Esq., 1865.

A descendant of one of the old Pilgrim Fathers, Francis Peabody, who emigrated from St. Albans, Hertfordshire. Born at Danvers, Massachusetts, U. S., 18th February, 1795. He came to England in 1837, and being successful as a merchant, founded, at Danvers, U. S., the Peabody Institute, at a cost of 25,000*l.*, and a similar institution at Maryland, giving for that purpose 100,000*l.* On the 12th March, 1862, towards the relief of the needy and deserving poor of the Metropolis, he presented the princely sum of 150,000*l.*, and on 29th January, 1866, a further sum of 100,000*l.* for the same object. The honorary Freedom of the City of London was presented to him on the 10th July, 1862.

32 DAVID SALOMONS, Alderman. Painted by S. A. Hart.

Presented by him during his Mayoralty, 1856.

Born 1797. Elected Sheriff of London and Middlesex, 24th June, 1835 (being the first member of the Jewish persuasion elected to that office); chosen Alderman for the Ward of Aldgate in 1835, but on account of his refusing to take the oaths his election was declared void; he was again chosen Alderman for the Ward of Portsoken in 1844, and for the same reason was unable to hold that office. A Bill having passed both Houses of Parliament to enable persons of the Jewish persuasion to accept and hold municipal offices, Mr. Salomons was elected Alderman for the Ward of Cordwainer in 1847. Chosen Lord Mayor, 29th September, 1855; elected Member of Parliament for the borough of Greenwich, 1851, but, being unable to take the required oaths, did not take his seat. The oaths being subsequently altered, he was again elected M. P. for Greenwich in 1858, and took his seat accordingly.

COURT OF ALDERMEN.

OVER the Lord Mayor's seat are the Royal Arms, and over the door opposite are those of the City, finely carved; the border of the ceiling and the windows are decorated with the Arms of the several Lord Mayors since the year 1780.

In an oval in the middle of the ceiling is a painting by Sir James Thornhill. A figure representing London is sitting upon the clouds, murally crowned, with the City Arms on her left hand. Behind her is Pallas; and under her, two boys, one with the Sword on his shoulder, the other pointing to the Cap of Maintenance; and the Mace lying under her feet. Peace is presenting her with an olive branch; and Plenty, with her horn, is pouring out riches.

In four compartments at each end of the oval, are the four Cardinal Virtues, represented like boys; Prudence, Temperance, Justice, and Fortitude. The borders of these compartments and of the oval, &c., are embellished with fruit and foliage richly gilt.

Over the chimney-piece is a painting in chiaroscuro, presented by Sir James Thornhill. It contains allegorical figures of London, Justice, Liberty, Piety, Truth, &c.

For the above paintings, the Court of Aldermen, in 1727, presented Sir James Thornhill with a gold cup of the value of 225*l.* 7*s.*

Vote of Thanks from the Mayor and Municipality of Paris to the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of London, dated Paris, 13th August, 1852. (In an ornamental oak frame.)

PORTRAIT. (CHAMBERLAIN'S PARLOUR.)

- 72 THOMAS TOMKINS. Painted by Sir Joshua Reynolds.

[The last portrait painted by that distinguished artist. Under it is the following motto: "Opera inter talia primus."]

THE SCEPTRE OR MACE.

The staff is composed of crystal, cut and channeled, and alternated with bands of gold, in which the channeling is continued. The channeling of the crystal is filled with thin fillets of gold; and the golden divisions are decorated at intervals with eight strings of large seed-pearls. The coronet is composed of four crosses and four fleur-de-lis, and decorated with three rubies and three sapphires; the pearls are grouped, six being much larger than the rest. The larger stones are set en cabuchon, or projecting as nail-heads, a characteristic of ancient jewellery work. On the top of the staff within the coronet, is a shield of the royal arms, France and England quarterly, apparently painted on vellum, and protected by a thin plate of crystal.

THE PURSE.

It is square in shape, and measures ten inches in each direction: it is made of a stout silken fabric, originally of a scarlet colour, thickly embroidered with gold lace. The City arms are worked in their proper colours on a field of silver thread. The interior is lined with scarlet silk.

Duplicate copies of the Honorary Freedoms and Thanks which have been voted by the City. There are more than ixy of these splendid ornaments, all beautifully written by the late Thomas Tomkins, Walter Paton, and others.

THE GUILDHALL.

SCULPTURE.

At the east end of the Hall are figures in stone of King Edward VI., Queen Elizabeth, and King Charles I. treading upon a globe; formerly placed in front of the Guildhall Chapel. By W. Stone.

MONUMENTS.

WILLIAM PITT, EARL of CHATHAM, by J. Bacon (1782).

is pleasantly smiling on her kind protector, through whose zeal, assisted by the four Quarters of the World, she is pouring plenty into the lap of Britain. The City in her mural crown, with a look of gratitude, is addressing her noble friend, pointing the while at Commerce. At her feet are placed the emblems of Industry, and on her right hand those of Justice and Power.

The expense of executing this noble cenotaph was 3421*l.* 4*s.*

On the tablet is the following Inscription, written by Edmund Burke :

In grateful acknowledgment to the Supreme Disposer of Events; who intending to advance this Nation, for such time as to His Wisdom seem'd good, to an high pitch of prosperity and glory; by unanimity at home; by confidence and reputation abroad; by alliances wisely chosen and faithfully observed; by colonies united and protected; by decisive victories by sea and land; by conquests made by arms and generosity in every part of the globe; by commerce, for the first time united with, and made to flourish by war; was pleased to raise up as a principal instrument in this memorable work

WILLIAM PITT.

The Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council, mindful of the benefits which the City of London received in her ample share in the general prosperity, have erected to the memory of this eminent Statesman and powerful Orator, this Monument in her Guildhall; that her Citizens may never meet for the transaction of their affairs without being reminded that the means by which Providence raises a nation to greatness are the virtues infused into great men; and that to withhold from those virtues, either of the living or the dead, the tribute of esteem and veneration, is to deny to themselves the means of happiness and honour.

This distinguished person, for the services rendered to King George the Second and to King George the Third, was created

EARL OF CHATHAM.

The British Nation honoured his memory with a public Funeral, and a public Monument amongst her illustrious men in Westminster Abbey.

The Right Hon. WILLIAM PITT, by J. G. Bubb (1813).

The massy substance on which the figures in this composition are placed is intended to represent the Island of Great Britain and the surrounding waves. On an elevation in the centre, Mr. Pitt appears in his robes as Chancellor of the Exchequer. Below him, on an intermediate foreground, two statues characterize his abilities; Apollo on his right, impersonating Eloquence and Learning; Mercury on his left, as the representative of Commerce and the patron of Policy. The lower part of the monument is occupied by a figure of Britannia, seated triumphantly on a sea-horse; in her left hand is the usual emblem of naval power, and her right grasps a thunderbolt.

The Inscription, written by the Right Honourable George Canning, is as follows :

WILLIAM PITT

Son of WILLIAM PITT Earl of CHATHAM,

Inheriting the genius, and formed by the precepts of his father,
Devoted himself from his early years to the service of the State.
Called to the chief conduct of the Administration, after the close of a disastrous war,
He repaired the exhausted Revenues, he revived and invigorated
the Commerce and Prosperity of the Country;

And he had re-established the Publick Credit on deep and sure foundations;
when a new War was kindled in Europe, more formidable than any preceding War from the peculiar character of its dangers.

To resist the arms of France, which were directed against the independence of every Government and People,

To animate other Nations by the example of Great Britain,
To check the contagion of opinions which tended to dissolve the frame of civil society,

To array the loyal the sober-minded and the good in defence of the venerable Constitution of the British Monarchy, were the duties which, at that awful crisis, devolved upon the British Minister, and which he discharged with transcendent zeal intrepidity and perseverance:

He upheld the National Honour abroad;

He maintained at home the blessings of Order and of true Liberty;

And, in the midst of difficulties and perils,

He united and consolidated the strength power and resources of the Empire.

For these high purposes,

He was gifted by Divine Providence with endowments, rare in their separate excellence; wonderful in their combination :
Judgment; imagination; memory; wit; force and acuteness of reasoning;
Eloquence, copious and accurate, commanding and persuasive, and suited from its splendour to the dignity of his mind and to the authority of his station;

A lofty spirit; a mild and ingenuous temper.

Warm and steadfast in friendship, towards enemies he was forbearing and forgiving.

His industry was not relaxed by confidence in his great abilities;
His indulgence to others was not abated by the consciousness of his own superiority.

His ambition was pure from all selfish motives :

The love of power and the passion for fame were in him subordinate to views of publick utility;

Dispensing for near twenty years the favours of the Crown,

He lived without ostentation; and he died poor.

A grateful Nation

Decreed to him those funeral honours which are reserved for eminent and extraordinary men.

THIS MONUMENT

Is erected by the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council, to record the reverent and affectionate regret with which the City of London cherishes his memory;

And to hold out to the imitation of posterity those principles of publick and private virtue, which ensure to nations a solid greatness,
and to individuals an imperishable name.

This monument was erected by the Corporation, at an expense of 4078*l.* 17*s.* 3*d.*

WILLIAM BECKFORD, Alderman, by Moore (1770).

Born in Jamaica; educated at Westminster School; elected M.P. for the City of London, 1747; Alderman for the Ward of Billingsgate, 25th June, 1752; Sheriff of London and Middlesex, 2d August, 1755; Lord Mayor, 29th September, 1762, and again, 29th September, 1769; died 21st June, 1770.

The design consists of three figures, and represents him as delivering his celebrated Speech in reply to the King, on the presentation of an Address of the Corporation. On one side is placed a figure representing the City of London in mourning, and on the other Trade and Navigation in a drooping state. This monument bears the following Inscription:

SPEECH TO HIS MAJESTY KING GEORGE III.

On the 23d of May, 1770.

MOST GRACIOUS SOVEREIGN,

Will your Majesty be pleased so far to condescend as to permit the Mayor of your loyal City of London to declare, in your Royal Presence, on behalf of his fellow Citizens, how much the bare apprehension of your Majesty's displeasure would, at all times affect their minds: the declaration of that displeasure has already filled them with inexpressible anxiety, and with the deepest affliction. Permit me, Sire, to assure your Majesty, that your Majesty has not in all your Dominions any subjects more faithful, more dutiful, or more affectionate to your Majesty's Person and Family, or more ready to sacrifice their lives and fortunes in the maintenance of the true honour and dignity of your Crown.

We do therefore, with the greatest humility and submission, most earnestly supplicate your Majesty, that you will not dismiss us from your presence, without expressing a more favourable opinion of your faithful Citizens, and without some comfort, without some prospect at least of redress.

Permit me, Sire, farther to observe, that whosoever has already dared, or shall hereafter endeavour, by false insinuations and suggestions, to alienate your Majesty's affections from your loyal Subjects in general, and from the City of London in particular, and to withdraw your confidence in and regard for your People, is an enemy to your Majesty's Person and Family, a violator of the public peace, and a betrayer of our happy Constitution, as it was established at the glorious Revolution.

This Monument was erected by the Corporation, at an expense of 1300*l*. (1770).

Admiral LORD NELSON, by James Smith (1810).

The Pyramid on the back ground is supposed to be the Tomb of the immortal Nelson, decorated with naval trophies, the fruit of his victories; while the female figure in the centre (personating the City of London), in grateful remembrance of the signal services he rendered to this country, perpetuates the memory of his great actions to posterity, and finishes with admiration the record of his last glorious achievement off Trafalgar. Britannia, on the left, supported by a Lion (the symbol of unshaken courage) is pensively musing over the portrait of the conqueror, and in silent grief deplores her loss. The recumbent figure in the fore ground, representing Neptune, roused by the fame of his heroic actions, participates in Britannia's sorrow and regret for her hero's fate. The naval action in front of the pedestal exhibits the situation of the fleet towards the conclusion of the battle, when the hero was mortally wounded by a shot from the main-top of a French seventy-four, with which ship the Victory appears to be closely engaged. In the niches, two British Seamen, with implements of war and navigation, hear with deep concern the fate of their beloved hero.

This monument was erected by the Corporation, at an expense of 4442*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.*

The following Inscription, from the pen of the Right Honourable Richard Brinsley Sheridan, appears on the tablet :

TO HORATIO VISCOUNT AND BARON NELSON,

Vice-Admiral of the White, and Knight of the most Honourable Order of the Bath.

A Man amongst the few, who appear at different periods to have been created to promote the grandeur, and add to the security, of Nations :—inciting by their high example their fellow-mortals, through all succeeding times, to pursue the course that leads to the exaltation of our imperfect nature.

PROVIDENCE, that implanted in Nelson's breast an ardent passion for deserved renown, as bounteously endowed him with the transcendent talents necessary to the great purposes he was destined to accomplish.

At an early period of life he entered into the Naval service of his country ; and early were the instances which marked the fearless nature and daring enterprize of his character ; uniting to the loftiest spirit, and the justest title to self-confidence, a strict and humble obedience to the sovereign rule of discipline and subordination. Rising by due gradation to command, he infused into the bosoms of those he led the valorous ardour and enthusiastic zeal for the service of his King and Country, which animated his own ; and while he acquired the love of all by the sweetness and moderation of his temper, he inspired an universal confidence in the never-failing resources of his capacious mind. It will be for History to relate the many great exploits, through which, solicitous of peril and regardless of wounds, he became the glory of his profession ; but it belongs to this brief record of his illustrious career to say, that he commanded and conquered at the Battles of the Nile and Copenhagen ;—Victories never before equalled, yet afterwards surpassed by his own last achievement the Battle of Trafalgar, fought on the 21st of October, in the year 1805.

On that day, before the conclusion of the action, he fell mortally wounded : but the sources of life and sense failed not, until it was known to him that the destruction of the enemy being completed, the Glory of his Country, and his own, had attained their summit : then laying his hand on his brave heart, with a look of exalted resignation to the will of the Supreme Disposer of the Fate of Man and Nations, he expired.

The Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council of the City of London have caused this Monument to be erected ; not in the presumptuous hope of sustaining the departed Hero's memory, but to manifest their estimation of the Man, and their admiration of his Deeds. This testimony of their Gratitude, they trust, will remain as long as their own renowned City shall exist. The period to NELSON's Fame can only be the End of Time.

ARTHUR WELLESLEY, DUKE of WELLINGTON.

By John Bell, R.A. (1857).

Wellington passed half his life in peace, and half in war. In the Guildhall memorial this view is taken for illustration. Peace, seated at the Duke's right hand, extends a civic wreath, and looks up to him gratefully. War, seated at his left, leaning on his sheathed sword, and grasping a victor's wreath, rests from his labours. The Duke, erect between the two, rests his left hand on his field marshal's baton, and in his right holds the peace of 1815: his regard is towards peace. He is represented in his usual costume, with the addition of the ribbon of the Garter, the star of the Bath, the Waterloo medal, and a military cloak. The age chosen for the statue—for its site in a civic hall—is between fifty and sixty. The Duke having then, after the termination of his active military career, passed some years in the arts of peace. Each of these three figures is 8 ft. 6 inches in stature. The division of subject is continued ornamentally below. Beneath the figure of War is a shield, with the crest and armorial motto of the Duke; viz. the lion's head and "Virtutis fortuna comes." Beneath the figure of peace is a similar shield, with a dove bearing an olive branch, and the motto (from the Æneid) "Pacis imponere morem," indicating the Duke's powers of negotiation and administration. Between these shields in front is represented, in relieve, the last charge at Waterloo (the action dividing a long war from a European peace of thirty-eight years). On the upper pedestal, wreathed with laurel, appear the words WISDOM, DUTY, HONOUR; and Wellington on the summit of the entablature, which forms the back ground of the group, so as to pair with that of Nelson, on the monument to which that of Wellington is a pendant in situation, and in some degree in treatment. The figures, shields, and relieve are in Carrara marble, as also the masonry of the monument itself.

This monument was erected at an expense to the Corporation of 4966*l.* 10*s.*

The Giants GOG and MAGOG.

These celebrated colossal figures, which are about 14 feet 6 inches in height, are placed one in each angle of the west end, on octagonal pedestals. One is armed with a pole-axe and the other with a halbert and shield. The maker was Captain Richard Saunders, an eminent carver in King street, Cheapside, and they were put up about the year 1708 in the room of the two old wickerwork Giants, which had formerly been accustomed to be carried in processions, and which it is believed were first used at the restoration of Charles II., when they graced a triumphal arch, erected on that occasion, at the end of King street.

It has been conjectured that the names of the Giants are Corineus and Gogmagog; that the former appellation has sunk into oblivion, and the latter been split, by popular corruption, into two,—Gog and Magog.

[A full and elaborate account of the Guildhall Giants will be found in Hone's Ancient Mysteries, 8vo, p. 262, containing references to many antient authors by whom they are mentioned, also Fairholt's History of Giants.]

106 *ALASTOR, by J. Durham.

107 *ALEXANDER THE GREAT, by J. S. Westmacott.

"The Princes applaud with a furious joy,
And the king seized a flambeau with zeal to destroy."
DRYDEN'S Alexander's Feast.

108 *ALFRED THE GREAT in the Neatherd's Cottage, by E. B. Stephens.

109 *BRITOMARTIS, by S. W. Wyon.

110 *ELDER BROTHER in COMUS, by J. H. Foley, R.A.

The Elder Brother in COMUS startled by the calls of the attendant Spirit in the Wood.

Eld. Br.	"List, list; I hear Some far-off halloo break the silent air.
Sec. Br.	Methought so too; what should it be? For certain Either some one like us night-founder'd here, Or else some neighbour woodman, or, at worst, Some roving robber calling to his fellows.
Eld. Br.	I'll halloo; If he be friendly, he comes well; if not, Defence is a good cause, and Heaven be for us." MILTON.

111 *EGERIA, by J. H. Foley, R.A.

"Egeria! thy all-heavenly bosom beating
For the far footsteps of thy mortal lover."
BYRON'S Childe Harold's Pilgrimage.

112 *GENIUS, by E. H. Bailey.

113 *GRISELDA, from Chaucer, by W. Calder Marshall.

114 *HERMIONE, by J. Durham, A.R.A.

"Chide me, dear stone; that I may say, indeed, Thou art Hermione, or, rather, thou art she
In thy not chiding; for she was as tender
As infancy, and grace.

O, thus she stood,
Even with such life of majesty (warm life,
As now it coldly stands,) when first I woo'd her!"
Winter's Tale, Act v. sc. iii.

115 *IL PENSEROSO, by J. Hancock.

"Come, pensive Nun, devout and pure,
Sober, stedfast, and demure,
All in a robe of darkest grain,
Flowing with majestick train,
And sable stole of cyprus lawn,
Over thy decent shoulders drawn."

MILTON.

116 *LEA, by P. McDowell.

"The tremble of my wings all o'er (For through each plume I felt the thrill)
Startled her, as she reached the shore
Of that small lake—her mirror still—Above whose brink she stood, like snow
When rosy with a sunset glow.
Never shall I forget those eyes!—
The shame, the innocent surprise
Of that bright face, when in the air
Uplooking, she beheld me there."

MOORE's Loves of the Angels.

117 *The FAITHFUL SHEPHERDESS, by Miss Susan Durant.

"Look, and see
The ring thou gavest me, and about my wrist
That curious bracelet thou thyself didst twist
From these fair tresses. Know'st thou Amoret?"

BEAUMONT and FLETCHER.

118 *The MORNING STAR, by E. H. Bailey.

"Now the bright morning star, day's harbinger,

* * * * *

Hail! bounteous May, that dost inspire
Mirth, and youth, and warm desire;
Woods and groves are of thy dressing,
Hill, and dale, doth boast thy blessing!
Thus we salute thee with our early song,
And welcome thee, and wish thee long."

MILTON's Song on May Morning.

119 *TIMON OF ATHENS, by F. Thrupp.

120 *The WELSH BARD, by William Theed.

"Ruin seize thee, ruthless king!
Confusion on thy banner wait,
Though fann'd by conquest's crimson wing,
They mock the air with idle state.

* * * * *

On a rock, whose haughty brow
Frowns o'er old Conway's foaming flood,
Robed in the sable garb of woe,
With haggard eyes the poet stood;
(Loose his beard and hoary hair Stream'd, like a meteor, to the troubled air)
And with a master's hand and prophet's fire, Struck the deep sorrows of his lyre."

CITY OF LONDON SCHOOL.

SCULPTURE.

- 141 Statue of JOHN CARPENTER, Founder of the City of London School (in Roche Abbey Stone), by S. Nixon.

Erected at the cost of the Corporation, 13th May, 1844, being his 402d Anniversary. On the pedestal of the Statue is the following Inscription, containing an epitome of Carpenter's character and services.

To the Memory of
JOHN CARPENTER,
an eminent citizen of London and member of the Company of Mercers, who lived during the reigns of Henry V. and Henry VI. and who bequeathed to the Corporation of this City certain lands and tenements for the purpose of maintaining and educating four boys and sending them to the Universities; from which bequest resulted the foundation and endowment of The City of London School, under the authority of an Act of Parliament,
A.D. M.DCCC.XXXIV.

He was distinguished by his general attainments and learning; his knowledge of the laws customs and privileges of this City;
his integrity of character and universal benevolence.
From his earliest youth he was devoted to the service of his fellow-citizens, and throughout the course of his life proved himself a ready defender of their rights and a zealous promoter of their interests.
He was elected
Common Clerk or Town Clerk of London,
A.D. M.CCCC.XVII.,
and held that office for twenty-one years,
during which period
he compiled the valuable Treatise still extant under the title of "Liber Albus."
He likewise represented the City in Parliament,
A.D. M.CCCC.XXXVI and M.CCCC.XXXIX.

As one of the Executors of Sir Richard Whittington, he conferred essential benefits on the City
 by promoting various public works, especially the erection of Conduits,
 the rebuilding of Newgate,
 the enlargement of the Hospital of Saint Bartholomew,
 the completion of the Guildhall,
 and the formation of a Library attached thereto, to which he subsequently bequeathed sundry rare books for the benefit of students resorting to the same.
 In token of his eminent services,
 he was honoured
 both by his Sovereign and fellow-citizens with peculiar immunities and privileges.

He left munificent bequests to the Charterhouse, and the Fraternity of Sixty Priests in London,
 of which brotherhoods he was a member,
 as well as to many other religious establishments and persons; also to the hospitals of Saint Mary within Cripplegate,
 Saint Mary without Bishopegate,
 Saint Bartholomew in Smithfield, Saint Katherine near the Tower, and Saint Thomas in Southwark; to the houses
 for poor Lepers at Holborn, Locks, and Hackney, and for poor Madmen at Bethlem;
 and to the poor prisoners in Newgate, Ludgate,
 the Fleet, Marshalsea, and King's Bench, and the Prison of Convicts at Westminster.

He died on the xiith of May, M.CCCC.XLII; and was buried before the chancel of the church of Saint Peter, Cornhill, of which parish he was an inhabitant and a liberal benefactor.
 Thus
 his comprehensive charity embraced all the necessities of his fellow men; and the general conduct of his life exhibited the character of one who
 (in the words of Holy Writ) desired
 "To do justly, love mercy, and
 "walk humbly with his God."

BUSTS.

Erected by the Corporation of London as a tribute of respect for

JAMES BUNSTONE BUNNING, Esq., F.S.A., who designed this School,
and was for upwards of twenty years the City Architect.
He maintained through life
a character for high professional talent, and left behind him
an unblemished reputation and an honoured name.
Born ixth October, M.DCCC.II.
Died iiii November, M.DCCC.LXIII.

Marble Memorial Tablets.

150

In Memory of

STEPHENSON BARRY,
 a Foundation Scholar and Exhibitioner of this School, who died on the 12th day of December, 1849, in the first term of his residence at Trinity College, Cambridge, aged eighteen years, this Tablet was placed by the Masters and some of his Schoolfellows, to record their admiration of his moral worth and transcendent mathematical genius, and to transmit to those who succeed them an enduring token of their affection for one who, had he been spared a few years,
 would have needed no memorial.

151

In Memory of

ROBERT PITT EDKINS, M.A.,
 of Trinity College, Cambridge.
 Professor of Geometry in Gresham College, London, formerly Mathematical Master of Kensington Proprietary Grammar School, Second Master of the City of London School from its commencement, in 1837, till his death, which occurred after a short illness on the 11th day of November, 1854, in the 50th year of his age.

In grateful remembrance of the benefits derived from his able instruction in mathematics, and sincere admiration
 of his unselfish devotedness to duty, some Friends and Pupils have erected this Tablet to his memory, and, to encourage the pursuit of his favourite study, have established an annual Prize for mathematical proficiency in the Fourth and Fifth Classes of this School.

152

In Memory of

THOMAS GARRETT,
 Lambert Jones Scholar of this School,
 Classical Exhibitioner of the University of London, and Foundation Scholar of Caius College, Cambridge, who died on the 18th day of October, 1862, aged 22 years.

This Tablet is placed by some of his Masters and fellow Pupils as a tribute of affectionate esteem for the man, admiration of the scholar, and regret that the hopes entertained of his future eminence have been disappointed by his premature death.

"A well-accomplish'd youth,
 Of all, that virtue love, for virtue lov'd."

PORTRAITS.

154 HENRY BENJAMIN HANBURY BEAUFOY, F.R.S.

Painted by R. W. Pickersgill (1848).

Born 23d April, 1786; carried on with great success, at South Lambeth, an extensive business as a manufacturer of vinegar and British wines, which had belonged to his grandfather, and afterwards to his father, the late Colonel Mark Beaufoy, F.R.S. He was author, in 1809, of "Considerations on the Nature and Use of Rifled Barrels" (describing himself at that time as a corporal of riflemen); besides being a contributor to Dr. Kippis's Biographia Britannica, he edited his father's "Nautical and Hydraulic Experiments, with numerous Scientific Miscellanies," of which Vol. I. was printed at his private press at South Lambeth in 1834. The presentation by Mr. Francis Hobler to the City of London School, in 1843, of a pair of dies for a medal, commemorating the scientific attainments of Colonel Mark Beaufoy, to be annually given as a prize for proficiency in mathematical knowledge, proved so gratifying to Mr. Beaufoy, that, in 1844, he established in the school a scholarship of 50*l.* a year for the special encouragement of mathematics. His interest in the school thus begun, continued to the end of his life, and manifested itself by the establishment, at different periods, of three other scholarships of the same value, and by many other valuable gifts and endowments: his benefactions to the school amounting in the whole to nearly 9000*l.* In grateful acknowledgment of such munificence, the Corporation had the above portrait painted, to be placed in the school, and a marble bust executed, to be placed in the Council Chamber at Guildhall. In 1850, he erected and endowed large schools in the parish of Lambeth, for the indigent poor, in memory of his wife, who died in 1847. His own death occurred on 12th July, 1851, and he was interred at Norwood cemetery. He left his very choice and valuable library and collection of works of art, &c., to be ultimately appropriated, under the directions of his brother George Beaufoy, Esq., R.N., to the use of the public.

155 SIR THOMAS GRESHAM, Knt. (on panel).

Presented by T. Brewer, Esq.

The son of Sir Richard Gresham, Lord Mayor of London in 1537; born at London in 1519; educated at Cambridge; apprenticed to his uncle, Sir John Gresham, who filled the office of Lord Mayor in 1547; admitted a member of the Mercers Company, 1543; for his valuable services in foreign parts, as agent for the crown, he received the honour of knighthood from Queen Elizabeth, 20th December, 1559; founded the Royal Exchange (or Bourse), 1566; the building finished, November 1567; the first meeting of merchants held in the building, 22d December, 1568; publicly opened by Queen Elizabeth, 23d January, 1570; founded Gresham College, July 1575; he died 21st November, 1579; and was buried in St. Helen's church, Bishopsgate, 15th December, 1579.

156 WARREN STORMES HALE, Ald.

Painted and presented to the School by J. W. Allen, 1841.

Born in 1791; elected a member of the Court of Common Council for the Ward of Coleman street, 1825; having originated the City of London School, he was appointed Chairman of the Committee in 1834, which office he continues to hold; he also took great interest in the establishment of the Freeman's Orphan School; appointed Deputy of his Ward, 1850; and upon the death of Mr. Alderman Hunter, 1856, he was chosen Alderman; elected Sheriff of London and Middlesex, 24th June, 1858; Lord Mayor, 29th September, 1864; to commemorate his mayoralty and the great interest he has always taken in the prosperity of the City of London School, a fund was raised by many of the old pupils and other friends, and the "Warren Stormes Hale Scholarship" was established, 28th July, 1865.

157 RICHARD LAMBERT JONES. Painted by T. F. Dicksee.

Purchased by the City of London School Committee.

158 A LARGE PICTURE (the gift of Henry B. H. Beaufoy, Esq., 1847).

Francis Hobler, Esq., presenting to Warren Stormes Hale, Esq., Chairman of the City of London School, in the presence of the Rev. Dr. Mortimer, Head Master, and Thomas Brewer, Esq., Secretary, the Deeds of Trust for two Scholarships of 50*l. per annum* each, founded by Henry Benjamin Hanbury Beaufoy, Esq., F.R.S., for the benefit of pupils proceeding to the University of Cambridge.

By E. U. Eddis.

FRANCIS HOBLER, a well-known solicitor in Bucklersbury, son of Mr. Hobler, who was for many years chief clerk in the Justice-room at the Mansion-house. A gift by Mr. Francis Hobler, in 1843, to the City of London School, of a pair of dies for a medal in honour of the late Colonel Mark Beaufoy, F.R.S., led to a series of munificent benefactions to the school by his son, the late Henry B. H. Beaufoy, Esq. Mr. Hobler was also the means of procuring for the City Library the gift, by Mr. Beaufoy, of a valuable collection of London tokens. He was formerly secretary of the Numismatic Society of London, and is author of "Familiar Exercises between an Attorney and his Articled Clerk"; "Liber Mercatoris, or the Merchants' Manual, 1838;" and "Records of Roman history, from Cnæus Pompeius to Tiberius Constantinus, as exhibited on the Roman coins collected by Francis Hobler, Esq.," published in 1860.

The Rev. GEORGE FERRIS WHIDBORNE MORTIMER, D.D., appointed honorary prebendary of St. Paul's, 1864; born in Devonshire, 1805; educated at the Grammar School at Exeter; proceeded to Balliol College, Oxford, and subsequently elected Michel Exhibitioner at Queen's College, where he took his degree of B.A., with first class honours, in 1826; M.A. in 1829; B.D. and D.D. in 1841; elected Head Master of the City of London School, 3d April, 1840, which office he resigned, 15th May, 1865. In testimony of the great public services he had rendered to education, the Court of Common Council presented him with the Freedom of the City, 25th May, 1848.

THOMAS BREWER, born 11th July, 1807; entered the service of the Corporation as clerk in the Comptroller's office, Guildhall, 1823; appointed clerk in the Town Clerk's office, 1826; elected Secretary of the City of London School, 7th September, 1836. In consideration of services was admitted to the Freedom of the City by honorary grant of the Court of Aldermen, 1842. Author of the "Life and Times of John Carpenter, Town Clerk of London in the reigns of Henry V. and Henry VI., and founder of the City of London School;" also of biographies of several other eminent citizens of London, founders of grammar schools and other charitable institutions. He was one of the founders of the Sacred Harmonic Society in 1832, and has been its honorary secretary for the past thirty-four years; for several years he was also honorary secretary to the City of London College for Ladies, Finsbury place.

Engraved Portraits.

159 DAVID SALOMONS, Ald.

160 WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE, from the Chandos portrait in the possession of the Earl of Ellesmere.

161 JOHN TRAVERS.

The head of an eminent firm of wholesale grocers in St. Swithin's lane. For many years he was an active and influential promoter of the liberal cause in parliamentary elections for the City. On his decease, which occurred 12th July, 1844, in the fifty-eighth year of his age, his fellow-citizens and friends testified their estimation of his character and services by establishing in the City of London School a scholarship called "the Travers Scholarship," of the value of 50*l.* per annum.

162, Lithographic View of the City of London School, from a Drawing by the Architect, J. B. Bunning, 1837.

163 Pen and Ink Drawing of the Statue of JOHN CARPENTER, by Delamotte.

Presented by Thomas Lott, Esq., Deputy.
